Chamber annual meeting set for Monday, Feb. 20

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce has set next Monday, February 20, for their Annual Meeting, to be held in the Empress Banquet Room, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Judy Berghoffer, media representative with Alberta Culture and Multiculturalism's Historic Sites Division, who will explore the promotion of historic sites, such as our own Fort George and Buckingham House are destined to become.

The ratification of the Chamber's new membership fee schedule, presentation of the 1989 slate of officers, and plans for the coming year will also be on the agenda.

Tickets, which include a smorgasbord dinner, are $10 and are available at the door. Memberships will also be on sale.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Workshop cancelled

The Continuing Personal Development for Women workshop scheduled for tonight has been cancelled, due to overlapping time commitments, and will be held at a later date. The workshop was planned by the Elk Point Public Library and the FCSS Department.

Half million still needed

With $3.9 million already committed for the construction of Elk Point's long awaited 30 bed nursing home, Elk Point General and Auxiliary and Nursing Home District No. 18 is still awaiting approval of an additional $500,000 in funding which is needed to meet the structure's $4.4 million price tag.

Then, and only then, can the design stage begin, which under present regulations requiring approval of each step, could take an entire year before the project is ready to go to tender. Construction will take more than another year to complete, before the facility would be ready to go on stream, according to Hospital Board Trustee John Williams and Hospital Administrator Clem Johnson, who visited Town Council Monday evening for their annual meeting with the Town. Williams added that the Board hopes to hear by the end of February regarding the approval of the additional funding.

Williams also answered Council's questions regarding the composition of the Hospital Board, which is made up of elected representatives from divisions called wards in the counties of St. Paul, Two Hills and Vermilion River, the town of Elk Point and the Municipal District of Bonnyville.

The requisition of funds for landscaping of the future nursing home addition was discussed, with Williams noting that the Town had been given the option of paying their share over three years to 'soften the blow to the taxpayers,' which a single large requisition would have caused.

Administrator Johnson told

Council that their response to the Hospital's 1988 concern regarding prompt snow removal from the emergency access route had been very good, and this is being done promptly after a snowfall.

Council questioned the concerns recently reported in the paper regarding the setting of Hospital Board meeting times at a time when one member is unable to attend due to his employment. Williams feels this 'isn't a big issue' and is something which can be settled internally by the board. The motion to hold morning meetings apparently came toward the end of a very long agenda which had the Board burning the midnight oil at their customary evening meeting, and was settled by a 'democratic vote—what can you do?' Williams said. He noted that the decision can easily be reversed if that is the Board members' wish.

Nine goal lead for Elks in provincials

Elk Point Elks sent the Consort Comets streaking into another galaxy Sunday, with a 10-1 victory over the visiting team in the first game of a two game, total point series, which started off the North East Zone Senior Provincial Playoffs.

The two teams appeared well matched for the first three quarters of a period, with good defensive play keeping both goals empty. From there on, however, it was all downhill for the Comets, with Troy Lorensen scoring off an assist by Kerry Loughran, Loughran scoring unassisted on a shorthanded breakaway, and Rick McMartin scoring on an assist by George Ward in the final 4 minutes, 45 seconds of the opening period.

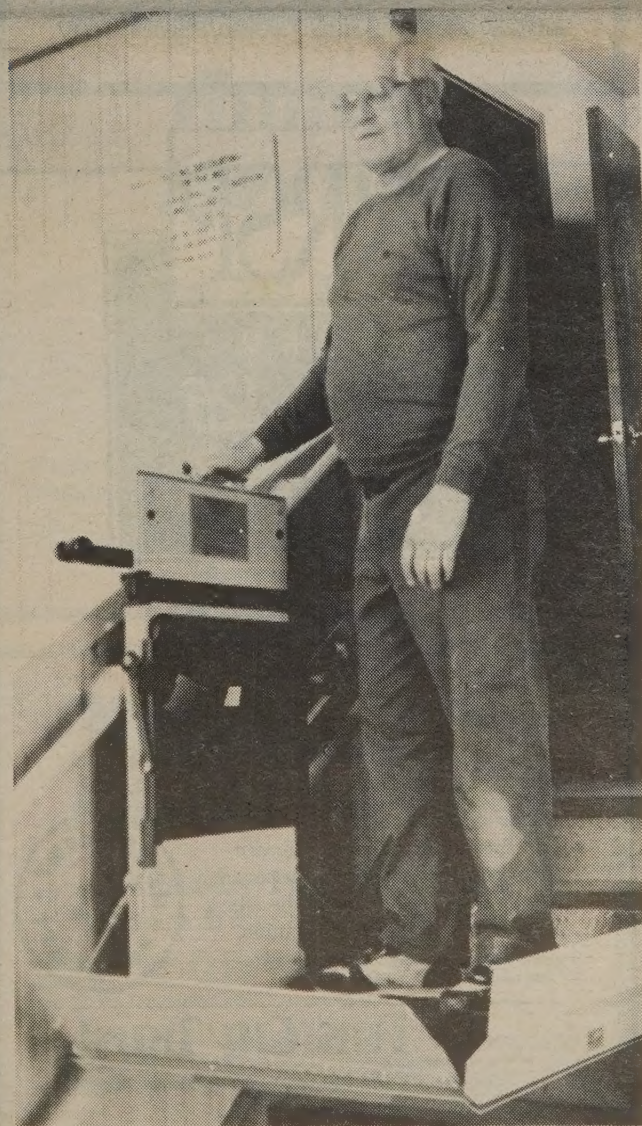

Willie Lesyk, Kerry Loughran and Keith Campbell teamed up for the first goal of the second period, while Campbell scored off assists by Terry Wozniak and Delwyn Slemph for the second. Troy Lorensen scored his second and third of the game with the aid of Kerry Loughran, and Marvin Ference credited with the second assist in the latter goal.

Consort's lone goal seemed almost accidental, with a very short shot by Rick Emmett off Dan Vincett sneaking past Mike Scott into the corner of the Elks net.

A double-whammy comeback by the Elks saw goals 19 seconds apart by Willie Lesyk, assisted by Allan Loughran and Terry Wozniak, and by Troy Lorensen, unassisted, hit the mark. The final goal of the game came with 8:17 on the clock, scored by Mike Boratynec off assists by Delwyn Slemph and Rick McMartin to bring the score to 10-1 in the Elks' favor.

With a 9-goal margin, it seems very likely that the Elks will move on to the next stage of the playoffs, against Stettler. Watch for dates and times of future games, as they become available.

Town annual meeting set

The Town of Elk Point has set Monday, March 20 for their 1989 Annual Meeting of Electors, following their review of the 1988 municipal audit and financial statement at Monday's meeting.

The 1988 financial statement is going to the printers this week, and will be mailed to the ratepayers along with the annual education report from the County of St. Paul No. 19, early in March.

Administrator Pat Vincent noted a decrease in complaints coming into the Town Office, and asked the Council members if they had heard of any. Councillor Marshall Kachmar's reply that the general public's comments have been 'positive-no complaints' was echoed by the other members. Mayor Bruce Kleeberger was pleased to hear this, and noted that 'Council is responsive to the ratepayers' input...and would welcome their attendance at Council meetings.'

Fire protection outside the County boundaries was again discussed, with Councillor Steve Shmyr of the Public Safety Committee noting that he feels the existing policy, which says the Fire Department can only respond to fire calls outside the jurisdiction if the fire chief of that jurisdiction or the RCMP requests them to do so. The committee plans to meet with RCMP Sergeant Best to discuss police intervention in fire matters.

Utilities Committee Chairman Allan Frankiw gave an update on the filter expansion now underway at the Water Treatment Plant. The media has been put into the two additional filters, electrical and instrumentation work is being done this week, and the filters should be operational by the weekend.

Third readings were given to both the Residential and Non Residential Garbage Collection by-laws, following the addition of the necessary amendments.

The Canadian Red Cross was given the Town's approval to conduct their annual canvass during March.

SECOND EVENT — At Lindbergh Ladies' Bonspiel was won by Cathy Irvine, Shelley Beazley, Myrna Golden and (not shown) Aria Irvine, who accepted their trophies from Jack White. Second place was won by (front row): Stella Lorensen, Karen Stafford, Alice Yake and Carrie Stafford. Marge Osinchuk skipped the third place rink, while Bernice Poleschuk's rink was fourth.

Courage rewarded

Former Elk Point resident Don Pelechovsky, now a resident of Cold Lake, has received a recognition award from Esso Resources for his courage and quick action in rescuing an injured woman from a blazing car wreck September 5, 1988.

Pelechovsky was presented with the award by Esso's Regional Manager Randy Ottenbrite, who praised him for his presence of mind, prompt assessment of the situation, and his bravery in approaching a burning car which had left the road and hit a tree in the Marie Lake area, to pull Geraldine Eiriksson from the wreckage. Pelechovsky is the second recipient of the Esso Award of Excellence, which began in 1987.

Pelechovsky is the grandson of Ron and Grace Barwick and the late 'Buz-zie' Pelechovsky of Elk Point, and lived in this area as a youngster.

Elk Point Outlaws host tournament

By Verhomme Thompson
Staff Writer

The Elk Point Outlaws held a broomball tournament last weekend in Elk Point and were overall pleased with the results said Ken Ference, one of the tournament organizers and captain of the club.

Initially, eight teams were scheduled to take part, but one withdrew at the last minute leaving an unbalanced schedule with only seven teams.

As hosts, the Outlaws did quite well and took second spot in the B event losing to the St. Albert Turbo. On the A side the Edmonton Police defeated the Edmonton Thunderbirds to win that side of the tournament.

"This is our third annual tournament and we had teams from Elk Point, two teams from Edmonton, Lloydminster, Fort McMurray, Edson and St. Albert."

Besides given trophies to the top team in each event there were several individual awards handed out as well.

The top defenceman award went to the Thunderbirds K. Toth and the best goaltender award went to K. Court, again of the Thunderbirds.

One of the most valuable player awards went to Samie McDavid of Edson and the other went to R. Daton of the Edmonton police.

The Outlaws would like to thank their sponsors which are Dave's Pizza, Elk Point Hotel, SPAID automotive, and Carling O'Keefe Breweries.

"The tournament was enjoyed by all the fans and all the teams and we had a successful social Saturday night and we would like to thank Mule Train for supplying the music. I would also like to thank the officials for doing such a good job of reffing."

Annual Meeting

Wednesday, February 15, 1989

7:00 p.m. at the OLD COURT HOUSE

Over the past year, the Elk Point Municipal Recreation and Cultural Board has worked hard to provide a stable and reliable service through the Recreation and Culture Office.

Programs for all ages, the recent establishment of a Steering Committee for a new recreation facility, and management of the Recreation Land, including ball diamonds have been a priority.

Please present any concerns your group may wish to discuss at the meeting in writing by February 8, 1989 to the:

Get involved

Looking at today's issue, you will find news of two annual meetings, an open house, a fundraising drive, and an upcoming province-wide hockey tournament.

All of these are ways which we, the residents of this community, can get involved in decision making, make our input of ideas count, and help to make our community a better place to live and to visit.

First, the Chamber's annual meeting. Whether you are a businessperson or not, you are welcome to attend, to find out about what the Chamber has accomplished and what it is attempting to do in the future, and to become part of its team of those who are working to develop and promote Elk Point.

Next comes the Tourism Action Plan's Open House next week, when you are invited to come and explore the ways the committee has found to encourage more tourists to come to Elk Point, and to stay longer. Bring your ideas for tourism promotion—the committee would welcome them.

Peewees to host tournament

The Fifth Annual Westmin Resources Pee Wee Hockey Tournament hits the ice this weekend in Elk Point, with 9 teams taking part in the 3-day event, which features a round-robin format. Please come out and cheer on these fine young hockey players as they strive for the Westmin trophy.

Then there is the annual Red Cross drive. This is an annual event, as are all the other fundraising canvasses which strive to collect funds for various ailments and causes. The Red Cross has a wider scope than most, and the many volunteers would welcome your donation, however small, to help out with its many, many good works.

The Provincial Pee Wee C Hockey Championships are next on the calendar. It is a great honor to host a provincial championship tourney, and this will bring hundreds of people to town who have never been here before. Let's answer their question, 'Where the heck is Elk Point, and what have they got to offer?' with a hearty welcome for the young sportsmen, their coaches and families. The Ag Society needs our help, and as a community it is in our best interest to give freely of our assistance. Those visitors may find this is such a great place they will want to come back and see it in the summertime, for a longer visit.

Finally, the Town's Annual Meeting, when all the electors are invited to come out and see what the people they voted for are doing for them. This is the time to ask your questions, to have your concerns aired, to find out what's going on. You will get far more satisfaction here than from asking your neighbor in the coffee shop about why nothing is ever done about so-and-so.

We have the opportunity to give our input, and if we want to have our say, these events are where and when it will count to do so. See you there!

Alberta Trails

More judicial nonsense

By Irene Magnusson

By the time you read this, this nonsense of killing off seatbelt legislation in Alberta will be old and probably already accepted. The good habits slowly acquired over the past couple of years by the motorists who were slow in catching on to the benefits of "buckling-up" will be sliding back to the good old days, of too lazy, too thoughtless, too careless, and too imbued with the idea that "nothing can happen to me!"

Some of us, who have either worn seat-belts since they were invented, or who have learned, who know they really help, who can hardly sit in a car without snapping one on, will go ahead and wear one anyway. Those free-living souls, who think it is "such a bother", who find it uncomfortable (mainly because they won't put the thing on right, preferring to hang it over their stomach, instead of around the hips, or who put the shoulder belt down under their arm, in hopes of cracking a few ribs) and who can tell you about a guy they knew, once upon a time, who had his seat belt on, ran his truck into a river or over a cliff, and it didn't save him, they will go back to NOT wearing their seatbelts, or continue to not wear them, as they probably did even when it WAS the law.

It seems to me the reason given, to wipe out our seat-belt law, was that the (presumably) learned Judge decided the seat-belts could prove injurious "if not used properly", so, like all the 'empty' guns that have gone off over the ages, the use of them must be abandoned entirely.

To carry that silly anomaly a bit further, we could assume, that, having brakes on a vehicle, they could be used 'improperly', say by jamming them on just after you hit a patch of glare ice, or wet new pavement, thereby putting said vehicle into a spin, crash-up or the ditch. The brakes, if improperly used, could cause bodily harm. Quick, run and pass a law relieving automotive manufacturers from the liability of putting brakes on all automobiles!

By the same token, one can, if they really try, under-inflate, or over-inflate, a tire. This action COULD cause an accident, and it could be laid at the door of 'used improperly' - therefore tires should no longer be required use on any vehicle on the road - purely a matter of choice. Certainly license-plates would go the way of the 'free choice' bit. After all they COULD be put on upside-down, switched from one vehicle to another, stuck onto stolen autos. Any of which just might be injurious to the rightful owner - say, if he got charged and sent to jail - so: put license plates on "free choice?" We could use this same silly reasoning on steering wheels, lights, etc. etc.

This nit-wit who went to court and had the Seat Belt Law repealed has much to answer for. Even, one might say, as the Alberta Government has, in taking so very long to put the law into place in the recent past. But the real 'destroyer' has to be the Judge, who saw fit to rule as he did. The nit-wit, with no thought for anyone's good but his own, and very little of that, will now have his 'freedom' to choose. He can let his kids get brained, or mangled, or even killed, should they be in an accident where seat-belts could have saved them - but he will go unpunished. He will even derive benefit from our Public Health plan, if he or his family are injured in a preventable accident - perhaps in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

I heard this 'freedom of choice' advocate on the John Hanlon CBC phone-in radio show. When asked if he would renounce his right to medicare, if injured in an auto while not wearing his seat belt, he went into the long song-and-dance about 'Yes, if everyone else who took chances with their health did, too.' (You know - the smokers, drinkers, drug users, over-weights, under-weights, unwed mothers, unwed fathers, AIDS victims, and so on). Clearly changing the subject, not able to face the facts of his own 'freedom'.

When I read or hear of some of the utterly unreasonable decisions made by some of those who sit on the benches of our land, I really am puzzled by the criteria used to appoint them to the job. Like causing us to spend countless dollars to keep a heartless butcher from facing his accusers; like keeping our own heartless butcher alive after he's been proven guilty; like giving some kid-manglers, wife-choppers, booze-loaded road-menaces three months in jail; these are decisions I will never understand. Or to give some figure-fiddler the same sentence as someone who shoplifts a pack of cigarettes after he's stolen millions of dollars, via computer. What does the word "Fair" mean?

It is just plain silly to say that the Seat Belt Law did not cause a lot of belts to be buckled up that would not have been otherwise. Lots of people obeyed the law, that wouldn't have dug their seat-belts up from behind the seat and scraped the dust off them otherwise. Surely, a few thought they were fooling someone besides themselves by holding the belt across their chest when the Law appeared; they are the same type who put purple gas in their cars, keep beer bottles under the seat and commit other petty crimes, feeling so proud of their silly 'freedom'. You can still get fined if you spit on the sidewalk, or show your naked body to the world - but you are 'free' to tempt the grim reaper without a seatbelt on. Hooray.

Letter To The Editor

Decision unfair

To the Editor:

We read with interest Marvin Bjornstad's letter to the Editor in February 1, 1989 issue of the Lakeland Review. The decision by the Elk Point Hospital Board to hold meetings during regular working hours is extremely unfair to Bjornstad and his approximately 2000 constituents. As an employed professional, Bjornstad is unable to attend their meetings which leaves his Ward 2 residents without a say in decisions made by the Board.

Another concern which has arisen as a result of the recent letters and publicity on this issue has been the lack of public awareness about the responsibility delegated to our elected representatives. Perhaps an annual report published in our local newspaper would provide taxpayers with this information.

Bjornstad is to be commended for his willingness to speak out on these issues.

Two Concerned Citizens.

What is going on at Elk Point hospital

A letter in support of the trustee who speaks as a constituent in the Elk Point Hospital District, I find the action of the board members in banning evening meetings very strange.

Firstly, if they truly find it difficult to drive at night perhaps it is time they stepped aside and let some younger people and ones with a fresh outlook do the job they are finding difficult to perform - as previously set up, in the evenings.

Secondly, daytime meetings are probably convenient for anyone who is self-employed, unemployed, or retired, but it certainly would exclude any average working person from serving in this capacity.

However, it seems to me that changing the meeting to the daytime signals a much deeper problem. The board member in question writes that he has "disagreed with some board members over issues of financial accountability, quality control, and staff management." The other board members (and administration) in turn have felt so threatened that they are trying to silence the member in question by holding daytime meetings which he is unable to attend.

These would seem like important issues to me. "Financial accountability, quality control, and staff management." What else is involved in the management of a hospital? What exactly are the disagreements? Obviously, things are not right at the hospital. I think it is time for all this to come into the open. We have a right as voting members to question our board members and get a full explanation of exactly what is going on.

In the meantime - all you constituents out there - October is election month. Please get involved in making Elk Point Hospital a better place - plan to run for the position of board member, or support someone with fresh ideas. If you can drive at night you already have an advantage over most of our present members.

What's news at the library?

Attention Ladies! The program "Continuing Personal Development for Women" has been postponed to a later date due to conflicting schedules. Watch this column for further announcements.

We have had a very busy week at the library. Approximately 60 people came to watch Ruth Andrichak's "Cow Punk". They were all enthralled with the show and had many questions for Ruth when it was over. She was very informative and interesting to speak to. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

The people in attendance also got a look at our slide presentation about the library. It was photographed by Michael O'Neill and narrated by Adele Mandryk. Everyone was impressed with the quality of the presentation.

Storytime on Friday saw the children all enjoying the Valentine's Party. Stories, puppets and a game kept the little ones all amused and entertained. The "Hot Valentine" game had two winners, Melvin Easthope and Melanie Johnson. They each took home a book by Richard Scarry. The puppet show was all about a little boy named Simon who wanted to be a duck! We had 20 children in attendance.

Valentines were passed out and refreshments were served.

NEW BOOKS

"War of the Roses" edited by Cecilia Walters is an authentic story of medieval England. The monks, clerks, and laymen recount in vivid and often racy detail the story of Britain from Richard II in 1377 to the death of Richard III on Bosworth Field in 1485. It is beautifully illustrated.

"The Plantagenet Chronicles" edited by Dr. Elizabeth Hallam concerns medieval Europe's most tempestuous family. From Henry II and his wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine, to Richard the Lionheart and his scheming brother John. Again this volume is beautifully illustrated.

"Artic Memories" by Norree Ekoomiak is a wonderfully illustrated book of paintings and prose. The writing is all about the Inuit way of life.

"Rabbit's New Rug" by Judy Delton - Rabbit loves his beautiful new rug, but comes to realize there are more important things, like friends.

AQUARIUS Jan. 21-Feb. 19

By Eileen Norby

The Chinese New Year Celebrations were held Monday Feb. 6th, 1989. It marked the beginning of the Year of the Snake. The Snake is the symbol of power. Once "The Keeper of the Grain" keeping rats away. The Snake is attracted to fear and guilt. Those born in the Year of the Snake are suspicious by nature and always find out their enemies. Be honest with a Snake and you may be one of the few people who'll be allowed to get close to him. It's worth it. The Snake is a valuable friend.

Aries (Mar 21 - Apr 19)

Map out career strategy this weekend when the moon focuses on your status and achievements. Loved ones can benefit from your practical suggestions early in the week. Watch out for sensitive ego's. Knowing and practicing have two different stories, try harder.

Taurus (Apr 20 - May 20)

There could be a money-saving short-cut you've overlooked. Pooling resources is a good idea. Be a positive thinker. Buy a bottle of champagne for your loved one. The bubbles will smooth over your troubles. The love you have for yourself is the nucleus of all motivation.

Gemini (May 21 - Jun 21)

Early '89 could find you in a delicate situation where there will be much discussion about you personally. Try not to be too sensitive. Maturity gained from past experiences will help you stay in control. If you feel competent, you're ready for anything.

Cancer (Jun 22 - Jul 22)

Some new offers and opportunities brighten your financial picture. Clarify your goals and pick the best. Be shrewd as well as practical. Put some funds aside for unexpected expenses. Dress up and sparkle. Winning friends and influencing people can appeal.

Leo (Jul 23 - Aug 23)

Help others to understand your point of view. Trust your intuition regarding new commitments. Put aside any past differences. They aren't worth it. Put your energies into new work projects. Someone finds you attractive. The tide crests for romantic evening.

Virgo (Aug 23 - Sept 22)

Your main focus is health, diet and rest. The people you care about find you extremely dedicated. You feel as if there aren't enough hours in a day. You come across as flexible, hard-working, fun-loving and willing to listen. A shining example of devotion.

Libra (Sept 23 - Oct 23)

Family obligations and domestic routine takes much of your time this week. You would like to be a social butterfly, however, you find time to socialize and flirt a little. One must keep up with private pleasures! Social "P's and Q's" ought to be strict.

Scorpio (Oct 24 - Nov 21)

You have a lot of problems on your mind right now. You hate to make financial sacrifices. Those who cramp your style should be avoided at all costs. Try to occasionally cater to your own needs and interests. Saying goodbye can be very traumatic if long.

Sagittarius (Nov 22 - Dec 21)

The next few months certainly won't be dull. You will attend interesting garage sales and flea markets. You have a new venture coming up. Tempers are flaring in River City! Whew, crosscurrents rage and swirl into deep feelings and hurts. Getting to the roots.

Capricorn (Dec 22 - Jan 20)

Do not recede so much into the back ground. Some call you egotistical and selfish. Your Sun Sign adds nonsense authority to your manner and appearance. This could escalate into a sizzling fracas. At least consider the other side of any given issue.

Aquarius (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

Cosmic influences open the door to release frustrating conditions. This is a good time to keep out of the limelight. Avoid touchy subjects, you'll have another fish to fry before too long. Concentrate on home interests. Relationships will certainly prosper.

Pisces (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

The new moon will accelerate your pace but you will drift into your usual seclusive moods. You enjoy an out-of-town visitor. You feel vigorous and confident which makes your home life in the doldrums. Taking anything at all for granted would be a mistake.

Minor hockey needs volunteers

The Elk Point and District Minor Hockey Association has recently been given the honor of hosting the 1989 PeeWee 'C' Provincial Hockey Championships on March 17, 18, and 19. This event is going to bring many new people from all over the province to our town for 3 days. We have the opportunity to put our best foot forward and make this event memorable for not only ourselves, but for all the visiting players, parents, coaches, and fans.

The tournament itself is in the planning stages by our Committee Chairpersons and members, and it indeed will take many hours of hard work to make the weekend a success. Luckily, we have many enthusiastic volunteers who already have assumed a heavy load to begin the organization of this event.

We wish to involve as many organizations, businesses and individuals as we can so that this tournament is an "Elk Point" event. There are many different jobs that will take a great number of volunteers. If your organization wishes to be a part of this event, we would greatly appreciate the help. The following list outlines the areas in which we could use some help:

1. Door workers

2. Souvenir sales workers
3. Banquet
4. Breakfast
5. Concession workers
6. Goal judges, timers/scorers, penalty box attendants

The tournament will not only take a great deal of organization and work, but will also require money to fund. Many of the tournament functions are free to the players and coaches, as they all have worked hard in getting to the Provincial Playoffs. You may have already been approached for sponsorship in our program. All donors of money towards this tournament will have their name printed in our program, which is available at the door. No donation is too small.

We feel that this tournament will not only be fun, but will give most of our local businesses a boost, especially the restaurants and motels. We are keeping all our purchases local, and not going out of the area for any business or support. We ask that everyone, whether they can help for that weekend or not, be friendly and put on a smile for all our visitors. We encourage welcome signs wherever possible. These people will always remember this visit, and if we show them the true Elk Point, they may come back in the future - a potential tourist. We thank you, in advance, for any consideration you give us for this tournament. We're excited - we hope the whole town will benefit. If you can help us, please contact

Author wows hometown crowd

HOMEOWN TALENT — Author and script writer Ruth Andrishak is welcomed to Elk Point Public Library by Library Board Chairperson Adele Mandryk, who presented her with a poster advertising her visit, drawn by Billie Milholland.

A capacity crowd was on hand at Elk Point Public Library last Wednesday to show their pride and pleasure in the work of Ruth Andrishak, author and scriptwriter, whose roots are firmly implanted in Elk Point soil.

Ms Andrishak's recent CBC television drama, Cowpunk, brought the audience laughter, tears, and the strong feeling that, for once, they had seen a story they could identify with.

Cowpunk was filmed last May in the small Manitoba village of LaRivière, 75 miles southwest of Winnipeg, at a cost of over $300,000 for six windy, dusty days of filming. Ms Andrishak was on the set for much of that time, and commented on the 'hurry up and wait' aspect of filmmaking.

Although she was not pleased with the changes made to her original script, including a beginning which was 'much better than the back seat of a Greyhound bus', Ms Andrishak was happy with the casting, which included a seventeen-year-old Winnipeg girl as the blue-haired punk girlfriend, a young man with a northern Alberta ranch background 'who could do his own riding' as the farm-kid-turned-punk-rocker, and an excellent Winnipeg stage actress as the mother.

The original story, written some years ago, was longer, had older characters and was set on an Alberta ranch, Ms Andrishak said, 'but it didn't sell, so I had to make changes.' One of her favorite scenes, in which the cowboy brother comes upon the punker playing his old guitar in the ancient log barn 'had to go,' as did several other scenes. Complimented on her character development, she said she had worked with the story until she felt she 'really knew them all well.'

Cowpunk is the first of thirteen shows in the CBC's Family Pictures series, which is being shown here on Channel 2, Lloydminster, at 12:30 Sunday afternoons. Ms Andrishak has been asked to write another script for the 1990 series.

In addition to two other television films written for the National Film Board, Ms Andrishak has written short stories, children's books and radio scripts, and is now at work on a feature film. Her CBC Radio drama, Follow the Buffalo Home, based on the true story of a buffalo which went through this area in 1973 as it sought its way home to Elk Island Park, was broadcast on FM earlier this year, and will be on AM radio at some time later in the year.

Ms Andrishak's writing career, which one of Wednesday night's visitors called 'an overnight success that was 15 years in the making,' started in art school, back in 1972-73, when a story she wrote for an art project was given a 'C' grading. 'I entered it in a writing contest in 1978—and it won second prize!' Her formal writing training includes two years at W. O. Mitchell's writing school in Banff.

In addition, Ms Andrishak studied with the DramaLab film training group in 1984, worked in a bakery, and 'ranch'd til I went broke.' She then decided to write for six months, and 'made a lot more money than I ever did raising cows.'

Her children's book, Julie the Great, was written for the bull terrier club in Calgary. 'I used to write stories for my kid—actually, my dog used to write to my kid. Now my cat does some of my writing.'

In recent weeks, Ms Andrishak has purchased a video camera and has been shooting scenes in the Elk Point area. 'It would be real fun to do a film here,' she noted, with an eye to the future.

'I've had such fun being home...'

Red Cross kicks off campaign in Elk Point

The Canadian Red Cross Society kicks off its annual door-to-door fundraising campaign in March under the leadership of Mrs. Violet McFadyen, Coordinator.

This year's campaign is special to the Red Cross as 1989 marks the 75th anniversary of the Alberta - N.W.T. Division. Keith Stewart, Commissioner of the Society's Alberta - N.W.T. Division commented from Calgary, "We've been able to provide support and services to our Division for 75 years thanks to the financial support of places such as Elk Point. When residents make a donation to the campaign, they make an investment in their community and quality of life. Every donation we receive, no matter how small or large, helps ensure that we can continue to provide our services to your community."

In Elk Point, Red Cross offers the following programs:

Fun and Fitness

Fun and Fitness is a progressive exercise program designed primarily for well, but inactive, seniors. All class instructors are volunteers, trained by the Red Cross. In fact, many of them are seniors themselves. Fun and Fitness is an excellent way for seniors to maintain and improve mobility, remain intellectually challenged and enjoy the company of other seniors.

Creations

Talented volunteers are the foundation of the Red Cross program. They produce a variety of hand-crafted goods, such as baby clothes, knitted goods and kitchen handicrafts, which are then sold to the public to raise funds for Red Cross development projects overseas. Creations also produces quilts which are used by the Emergency Services program when bedding supplies are needed.

Small Craft Safety

Paddling peacefully along an Alberta lake or river is a pleasant pastime for those who understand the basics of boating safety. For the untrained, it can become a nightmare. Red Cross Small Craft Safety works to prevent and reduce boating-related deaths and accidents. A combination of safety demonstrations, pupil and instructor training, and the distribution of accident prevention information help to alert Elk Point residents to the importance of learning safe boating practices.

Stewart added, "Red Cross thanks those donors who have given to our campaign in the past and we'd like to encourage everyone in Elk Point to give to this campaign. With your support, we can ensure our programs are part of your community for another 75 years."

"Red Cross is proud of its ability to provide humanitarian and health oriented services to all Albertans and we want to continue to reach out to the Elk Point community."

"AOC Financing Got Elk Point Truss Off The Ground"

TURNING OPPORTUNITY INTO ENTERPRISE

OPPORTUNITY

In 1979, after years of construction industry experience, Ed Croteau and his partners identified the need for truss products in North-Central Alberta.

CHALLENGE

They needed aggressive start-up financing to build a competitive, state-of-the-art plant.

SOLUTION

They went to AOC and received an excellent financial package and valuable advice on centralizing the plant in Elk Point. Elk Point Truss now employs up to 25 people in designing and manufacturing trusses for homes, barns and commercial buildings.

Take action against stress

I've heard you can exercise to get rid of stress. Are there special exercises I can do to feel better?

How to Exercise Away Your Excess Stress

Physical exercise is a quick, easy way to relieve stress-related tension. Vigorous aerobic exercise has been shown to increase your body's levels of endorphins (a natural sedative) and catecholamines (substances that affect moods). Stretching exercises also reduce stress by relaxing tense muscles - one of the most common stress responses.

Fight Stress With Stretching

When you are under stress, your muscles become tense. When you relax, so do your muscles. Stretching exercises can mimic your body's "relaxation" response by helping loosen up tight muscles and relieving tension. These stretches are easy to do, take only a few minutes, and can be done anytime, anywhere, by almost anyone!

Fight Stress With Aerobics

Aerobic exercise strengthens our hearts and lungs and improves our overall use of oxygen. Activities such as fitness walking, jogging, swimming, cycling, and rowing are excellent aerobic choices. Besides causing chemical changes in the brain that may improve moods, exercising regularly can create a sense of commitment and control, which in itself can improve our mental attitudes and self-images. Many people find that vigorous morning workouts give them a better start on the day. Other people prefer to exercise at the end of their day to help them "unwind" and release pent-up tension. Exercising in the morning or evening is not as important, however, as exercising regularly. Twenty-thirty minutes of aerobics, done 3 times a week not only benefits your heart, but your peace of mind, too.

Less Stressed and Feeling Fine

Exercise can make you feel less stressed both physically and mentally. By setting aside just 20-30 minutes a few days a week for exercising, you can reduce the symptoms of stress overload while improving your overall health and well-being. What could be finer?

If you have a question you've been wondering about, why not write Corinne Fontaine, c/o Dialogue on Health, Box 1468, St. Paul, T0A 3A0 or phone 645-3396.

Skater's Profile

Basic to Novice 1

The children in this group are Dawn Dale, Valerie Engstrom, Cherie Hudy, Melanie Johnson, Erica Nielson, Billy Shelley, Derri Walker, and Jenna Bassett. They are our largest group and are working on their Basic or Novice I Badge. The children have to master bunny hops, circle thrusts, crosscuts, three turns, spirals, snowplow stops and skating backwards. It sounds like a lot to learn, but with their energy and enthusiasm they will probably earn these badges and may even move on to the next badge level before the season is over. CANADA-ALBERTA Forage Insurance

1989 DROUGHT PROTECTION for Hay Crops and Pastures

Forage insurance is no longer an emergency measure in Alberta, although that's how the program started. Experience soon proved that farmers and ranchers everywhere in Alberta need to protect hay crops and pastures from the risk of drought losses every year.

You benefit if you insure every year. Full coverage benefit for continuous participation. But if you drop out of the Forage Insurance plan, your claim is reduced by 25% in the year you re-insure.

Your policy is renewed automatically. Subject to confirmation by March 31, your policy continues each year until you cancel it.

What Ever Happened to Randy Grubb?

In 1972, Randy Grubb became an apprentice millwright with Canadian Forest Products Ltd. (Alberta Division). ⚡ After four tough years and a stack of exams, he was a certified tradesman. ⚡ When Canfor announced a switch to a more progressive, computerized mill, Randy seized the opportunity and began upgrading his electrical skills. ⚡ By 1992, Randy Grubb will have earned his electrical journeyman status.

⚡ RANDY GRUBB ON GETTING

STARTED: "In 1970, I was fresh out of high school and eager to land a job in a trade. ⚡ "Jobs weren't exactly easy to come by then, so I took what I could. An odd job here. An odd job there. ⚡ "In 1972, I got my first big break — an apprentice millwright position with Canfor. By 1976, I'd earned my certification. That was a proud moment." ⚡

RANDY GRUBB ON OPPORTUNITIES:

"Our company was building a fully modernized mill. I reckoned where there were computers, there was a need for electricians. ⚡ "So, with a little government assistance, I decided to build on my millwright skills by learning another trade. ⚡ "To this day, I'm still learning the ropes, and believe me, it's hard work. But I've got a long term plan. I'm not thinking about the obstacles, I'm just thinking about getting my certification." ⚡

RANDY GRUBB ON ALBERTA'S

ECONOMY: "In my 17 years in the forestry business, I've seen a lot of change.

Both in the technology we use and in the way we think. To me, these are exciting times. Because as Alberta continues to diversify, new opportunities will continue to surface.

⚡ "If opportunity knocks, I say grab it. Because in this competitive day and age, you can't afford to let things happen. You've got to get out there and make them happen." ⚡
